Jeane J. Kirkpatrick Papers

Kirkpatrick, Jeane J. (1926-2006). Papers, 1961-2002. 44.66 cubic feet.

Diplomat. Papers (1961-2002) of Jeane J. Kirkpatrick, who served as U.S. Ambassador to the United Nations and foreign policy adviser to U.S. President Ronald W. Reagan in the 1980s. The papers include U.N. correspondence (1974-1992), speeches (1980-1992), subject and country files (1961-1999), and newspaper clippings (1973-1997). The collection also contains audio and visual recordings (1985-2002), and memorabilia (1979-2001). The materials highlight Ambassador Kirkpatrick's service in the United Nations and her work as a fellow at the American Enterprise Institute, a conservative think tank.

Biographical Note

Kirkpatrick was born Jeane Duane Jordan in Duncan, Oklahoma, in 1926, to Welcher F. Jordan and Leona (Kile) Jordan. She spent her early years in Duncan, and in Mt. Vernon, Illinois, and later earned degrees from Stephens College, Barnard College, and Columbia University. She married Evron Kirkpatrick in 1955 and they had three children. In her early career she was active in politics and was a political science professor at Georgetown University. She became a foreign policy adviser to President Ronald W. Reagan during his 1980 campaign, and was the first American woman to serve as ambassador to the United Nations in 1981-1985. Kirkpatrick was a forceful advocate of U.S. policies. In the mid-1980s she was involved in the Iran-Contra Affair, a political scandal in which weapons were secretly sold to Iran and the funds diverted to Contra rebels in Nicaragua. Ambassador Kirkpatrick wrote a syndicated column, numerous articles, and several books. She was awarded the Presidential Medal of Freedom in 1985, and in 1993 she cofounded Empower America, a conservative public policy organization. She died in Maryland in 2006.

Collection Series

Series 1: Calendars and Schedules, 1981-1987.

This series contains Kirkpatrick's calendars and appointment books for the period spanning her service as U.S. Ambassador to the United Nations.

Series 2: Country Files, 1961-1998.

The Country Files series contains Kirkpatrick's files that she kept regarding various countries and regions of the world and U.S. foreign policies toward them. The files cover areas such as Central America, the Middle East, South Africa, Nicaragua, the Soviet Union, Tibet, and others. They contain copies of newspaper articles and other printed information.

Series 3: Subject Files, 1964-1999.

The Subject Files series contains Kirkpatrick's files on a variety of foreign policy issues, such as arms control, U.S. foreign aid, human rights, world political figures, and the environment. The files contain copies of newspaper articles and other printed information.

Series 4: United Nations Correspondence, 1974-1992.

This series contains Kirkpatrick's correspondence files primarily from the period of her service as U.S. Ambassador to the United Nations. Some printed materials are also present in the files.

Series 5: Speeches, 1980-1992.

The Speeches series contains typescript speeches by Kirkpatrick, and by other speakers such as U.S. President Ronald Reagan, and U.S. Secretary of State George P. Schultz. The series also contains Kirkpatrick's contracts and invitations to speak at various events.

Series 6: Press and News Clippings, 1973-1997.

This series contains Kirkpatrick's files of collected news media coverage of various countries and foreign policy matters. The files also contain media interviews with Kirkpatrick, as well as articles by and about her.

Series 7: Audio/Visual Media, 1985-2002.

The Audio/Visual Media series contains media coverage of foreign policy matters and related events, both professional productions and pieces taped from televised broadcasts.

Series 8: Memorabilia and Miscellaneous, 1979-2001.

This series contains certificates and plaques awarded to Kirkpatrick, photographs, political cartoons, memorabilia, flags, and Kirkpatrick's academic hoods.

Processing Note

A total of 9.25 cubic feet of printed United Nations Journals (Security Council and General Assembly) dated January 1980 to December 1985 were removed from this collection. They are available at UN depository libraries.
